3 Flyers Killed in West Va.

Charleston, W. Va.—Three of the five missing army airmen were found dead on the Twenty Mile Creek at 9:30 a. m. Monday according to a report received at Aviation Headquarters. Another was reported as severely injured. There was no mention of the fifth man, but the opinion was expressed that he was in the wreckage of the bomber that fell Saturday afternoon, while traveling from Charleston to Langley field.

Badger Car in Crash; 4 Killed

Bloomington, Ill.—Three of four persons killed in a train and automobile accident at Ocoon, Sunday, on the Chicago and Alton, have been identified. They are Charles L. Crawford, West Waukena, S. D.; Miss Augusta Reed, Sioux City, Ia.; and Carl E. Johnson, no address. The automobile license was issued in Florence, Wis., No. 181,052.

Hankow, China—Fighting between troops of the northern and southern governments at I-Chang, 145 miles northwest of here, is reported in a wireless message.

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON.—Members of the British cabinet will be called upon to reach a decision Wednesday either to continue negotiations with Sinn Fein on the basis of "the consent of the governed" or to issue an ultimatum to the Irish republicans to accept or reject the government's proposals looking to a settlement of the Irish question.

The reply of Eamonn De Valera and his associates to the last note from Premier Lloyd George, made public here Sunday, did not break off negotiations with the British government, but it was admitted here Monday that the situation had lost none of its gravity. There appeared to be no thought of retreat in the Sinn Fein reply and it seemed the situation remained as it was before the last exchange of letters. There was a disposition Monday to think negotiations would continue, but it was apparent that the parties had not reached anything like a common understanding which would serve as a basis for further parleys. Patience was counseled, however, in the hope that some way out of the maze might be found.

Seek Ulster Denial.

Dispatches from Ireland would seem to reflect a desire of the Sinn Fein to bring Ulster, or at least the counties of Armagh and Fermanagh, into the Irish republican fold. Michael Collins, minister of finance in the cabinet of Eamonn De Valera, and commander in chief of the republican army, spoke at Armagh and made an appeal to Ulster to stand with Southern Ireland against partition. At the same meeting, Owen O'Duffy, chief liaison officer for Northern Ireland in the republican army, threatened Ulster with an increased boycott if she did not "come into united Ireland," adding, according to reports:

"If that is unsuccessful we will bring loud against her."

Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has not shown the slightest indication that he intends to meet the Sinn Fein leaders in peace conversations.

With the exception of the Morning Post, which said, "It is impossible to make terms with a rattle-snake," London newspapers Monday morning made a united plea for forbearance in hope that a common ground might yet be found.

Must Not Close Door.

"The last sentences of Mr. De Valera's letter," said the Express, "make it imperative that the door to future negotiations should not be closed by us. Ireland is not an alien enemy. We must look on her as an indulgent father regards a wayward son. There must be no return of conflict until all other means have been exhausted."

The Daily Chronicle declared the Irish letter was a cheerless document, adding: "It could never have been written if the majority of the Dail Eireann really wanted peace or if they cared much about a settlement without a return of warfare."

Reds Riot in Berlin; 15 Hurt

Berlin.—One hundred and fifty Communists, each wearing a red star on his head, started a benefit fair for widows and orphans of a Lehr infantry regiment at Fankow, a Berlin suburb, Sunday.

Guarding all entrances to the fair ground to prevent escape, the riots (perpetrated 2,000 men, women and children. They beat down resistance with sticks, chairs, beer bottles and stones.

(After robbing the cash register and snatching several pocket books they disappeared. Fifteen persons were badly injured.

SPANISH THRONE PERILED BY MOORS

Tribesmen Enter Suburbs of Melilla After New Defeat of Alfonso.

Paris.—Moorish forces have entered the suburbs of Melilla. After four days of continuous fighting Spanish troops have been thrown back and suffered severe defeats at several points on the battle front.

An official telegraphic dispatch from Madrid reports casualties heavy on both sides the past few days.

The Spanish crown forces are said to have lost 2,000 in dead and wounded. The number of Moorish casualties are unknown, the dispatch states.

Fears for the safety of the Spanish throne should the Moors finally capture Melilla are expressed by high officials in monarchical circles.

Spanish Women Protest.

Spanish women demand to know why the lives of men are wasted in Morocco. Spain has lost 18,000 men since fighting began there.

Mutinies are reported hourly occurrences in barracks and at debarkation points.

Anti-dynastic speeches have been made almost within the King's hearing in Madrid.

Strong measures have been taken by the crown to repress a serious revolutionary movement under way in many of the larger cities, notably in Barcelona, Tarragona and Valencia.

The strictest censorship has been imposed on all correspondents in Spain. All rail and wire communication has been cut at eighteen points in the kingdom. It has proper almost impossible to obtain definite information on the situation in the battle areas.

Will Punish Guilty.

Governor Morgan has issued a statement that there would be no official slackness in prosecution of those who were responsible for last week's "insurrections against the state." All the forces of the state, he said, would aid county authorities to punish the guilty. The governor also said:

"The federal officers and troops are disarming the 'insurrectionists' with diligence and, while the leaders of the armed insurgents have been arrested."

Reds Murder 61, Is Report

Alma.—Sixty-one persons were shot in Petrograd on Aug. 23, after being sentenced to death by the Cheka, or bolshevik inquisition for active participation in the plot against the soviet government recently discovered in Petrograd, says a wireless message from Moscow.

Among those executed, according to Moscow newspapers, reaching this city, there were believed to have been several persons accused by the Cheka of being Russian agents of the American intelligence service who crossed the border into Russia from Terijoki, Finland.

Rioting and Sabotage.

Rioting and sabotage are reported despite the censorship. Premier Maura and War Minister Llaclava are no longer trusted.

In diplomatic circles tonight, official expressions doubt that the government will be able to cope with the situation owing to the fact that it has recently been necessary to send large numbers of troops into Morocco.

WISCONSIN CITIES SWEEP BY STORM

Fond du Lac, Manitowish Suffer Damage in Heavy Downpour.

Manitowish.—Milleniums and the major portion of Wisconsin was swept by a heavy rain storm Sunday afternoon and most of the night which, while being of great intensity, did but little damage except in the outskirts of Fond du Lac, in Port Washington and near Manitowish.

Lightning destroyed two barns belonging to Michael Gallagher in the town of Maple Grove, near Manitowish, causing a loss of $5,500 to crops and machinery. The barn was the fifth to strike within two weeks in that county, resulting in total losses of $50,000.

Basements Are Flooded.

Wind, rain and hail overtaxed the sewerage system at Port Washington, causing basements of business houses to become inundated more than two feet and resulting in considerable loss to stock.

The downpour at Fond du Lac was the heaviest this year, but outside of leveling lots crops caused but little other damage, according to reports early Monday morning.

Madison, Green Bay and Appleton were hit by heavy rains, lasting more than four hours.

In Milwaukee, the rain broke as a deluge and for half an hour kept hundreds of persons marooned in basements by heavy rains, lasting more than four hours.

Needed in State.

The rain was greatly needed throughout the state, farmers reporting that the soil was drying out and into crops and pastures suffering thereby.

The precipitation in Milwaukee up to eight o'clock Sunday night was nearly half an inch.

Hundreds Die in Streets in Russia Famine Districts

Samara, Russia.—Hunger and death so virtually unnoticed in the neglected suburbs and alleys of Samara.

Refugees from famine districts near this city estimated from 20,000 to 40,000 are huddled together in deserted buildings, unused factories, cluttered tents and in various nooks about the open spaces about the railway stations and the docks along the Volga.

Hunger, typhus, cholera and exhaustion have killed off hundreds of these miserable creatures, young children falling victims most readily.

Bedraggled refugees are constantly carrying pine coffins and the cemeteries where unburied wooden crosses mark hundreds of new graves. From fifty to one hundred starving children are gathered up daily from the streets or turned over to the central refuge, by parents who cannot feed them. Many of these little sufferers have typhus, but the hospitals are without beds and medicine.

Doubt Relief Coming.

Samara's only newspaper, a single sheet of brown paper, has printed an announcement that the American relief administration's workers have reached Moscow and that 200,000 tons of American food is en route to Russia.

The discouraged and hungry population, however, hardly believes that aid will come, and, with Russian stoicism, they camp along the highways and endeavor to obtain rides to any place where food may be secured.

Yulien Sokolsky, chairman of the Samara provincial soviet, told the Associated Press last week that 500 carloads of seed grain had already arrived from Moscow and that he was expected to enable the peasants of Samara province to sow approximately 1,000,000 acres of wheat for the next harvest. Samara usually plants an acre of grain for every acre of wheat, but this year the acreage amounted to only 4,000,000 acres and the crop was almost a failure because of drought.

Although transportation is difficult, M. Sokolsky said the entire peasant population of 2,500,000 would be dependent upon outside food by November. Already 100,000 died.

CITIZEN POSSE HALTS SUNDAY MOVIE SHOWS

Madison, N. J.—Attempts by owners of theaters to conduct Sunday movie picture exhibitions here met with a decided setback on Sunday when a force of 65 deputy sheriffs, recruited from among leading business men and church workers, swooped down upon three principal theaters and arrested the manager and attaches.

This edition of the Gazette, printed at noon, is the only one to be issued today. You will find it complete in all departments.

VAN BEYNUM, 63, DIES OF INJURIES

Fall Fatal to Prominent Worker in Lodges and C. of C.

J. W. Van Beynum, 63, a resident of Janesville since 1898, died at 4:30 at his home, 312 Walker street, Sunday afternoon, the result of an accident Thursday night.

With others connected with Frank D. Kimball he had gone to the Northwestern station for the body of a soldier shipped from France and was riding in the rear of the truck down River street. Apparently he lost his balance and as he fell called to the driver.

Waited Into House.

He was unconscious when picked up but revived when fanned. He was taken home and walked from the automobile into the house, insisting no doctor was necessary. Next morning he was in a semi-comatose condition. Dr. Fred Sutherland was called, as Mr. Van Beynum grew worse Dr. Sutherland called in Dr. J. F. Decker.

Saturday he sank rapidly and members of his family from outside the city were summoned. None was able to reach the city before death came.

Born in Milwaukee, Mr. Van Beynum was born in Milwaukee, March 8, 1858. He moved from there to Beloit, in 1886 to take charge of the T. M. C. A. as secretary. He had previously been assistant secretary in Milwaukee under C. T. Willis, who is known to many in Janesville.

He left T. M. C. A. work to go to the laundry business, in 1908 the family removed to Janesville where Mr. Van Beynum became connected with the Janesville Steam Laundry.

For the past several years he has been in the furniture store and undertaking establishment of F. D. Kimball.

Active in Life of City.

Mr. Van Beynum leaves a wife and three children. One of the children, Mrs. John R. Horn, moved from Janesville to Tampa, Fla., a year ago and is expected to arrive Tuesday. Another daughter is Mrs. W. E. Sullivan of 419 North Bluff street. The son, C. W. Van Beynum, arrived

TRUCK AND TOURING CAR IN SICKENING CRASH; 2 MAY DIE

AL. LYONS AND GROVER OLSON SUFFER FRAC-TURED SKULLS.

FIRE LOSS SMALL

Volunteer Firemen Speeding to Blaze in Barn—Crash Near Library.

(By Special Correspondent.)

Edgerton.—Albert Lyons suffered a fractured skull and had his right leg broken in three places. Grover Olson received a fractured skull and a broken left arm, and five other men were injured in a sickening accident here shortly before 3 a. m. Monday.

The crash occurred on Albion street near the public library when a big Hudson touring car driven by Dr. Fred C. Meyers rammed into a stalled motor truck which was hauling a horse-carriage to a barn in a barn owned by Fred Carrier.

The other five men injured: Henry Biesman, one side of body torn and hurt internally; Wellington Fredendall, one knee dislocated; C. S. Mithun, shaken up and hurt internally; Rollie Ellingson, hurt internally.

John Hanson, left leg fractured. Lyons is in a serious condition at Dr. Shearer's clinic, while Olson, Biesman, Fredendall and Hanson are in local hospitals. Mithun and Ellingson were taken to their homes.

All in the accident were hurrying down Albion street to the barn fire. The fire was extinguished with but slight loss to the horse-carriage, owned by men employed by the T. & T. Motor company, were saved.

Were Detaching Car.

Pending the arrival of a new fire truck, volunteer firemen turn out with horse carts for each alarm. Dr. Meyers, accompanied by Olson and Mithun, were speeding to the fire when they came into the big truck, owned by Willard Doy.

The truck had become stalled in the middle of Albion street and the five others in the accident—Lyons, Fredendall, Biesman, Hanson and Ellingson—were detaching the horse-carriage to drag it on to the fire when the touring car crashed into them. Tom Weisman, driver of the truck, had just succeeded in getting the engine started when the accident occurred.

Heard for Blocks.

The crash was heard for several blocks and people gathered at the scene within 10 minutes while others went on to extinguish the fire. The forms of the moaning victims lying about the street, the demolished truck, torn wires, fallen electric signs and wreckage of some homes.

Suburbs were hit equally hard. A terrific windstorm at Downer's Grove, near Wood County, destroyed many trees, and wire communication was temporarily cut off with a number of surrounding towns.

Two thousand people in Grafton Park, near Janesville, were recovering from one of the most violent thunderstorms to visit the city this summer. Heavy wind accompanied the storm and left the city's streets strewn with trunks of trees, torn wires, fallen electric signs and wreckage of some homes.

Physicians have predicted she will die soon unless released, it was said. She was released last May to attend the funeral of her father, Dr. A. P. Lusk of Madison.

Miss Lusk, a teacher in Waushara high school, was convicted of killing Mrs. Roberts after she had become infatuated with Dr. Roberts. Mrs. Lusk shot herself but recovered.

COUNTY CUTS OUT 2 RAIL CROSSINGS

Dangerous Points Near Footville Eliminated by Land Purchase.

Elimination of two dangerous grade crossings on the Footville-Evanston road is finally assured with the filing of a deed with Recorder of Deeds F. T. Smiley, late Saturday, calling for the transfer of a strip of land from Bert R. Strickland, town of Center, to Rock county.

The land purchased lays about one mile northwest of the village of Footville and is known as section 31, town of Center. It consists of a strip three rods wide for highway purposes extending 5,420 feet through the Strickland farm, part of it going directly through his orchard. Its purchase was effected through the efforts of County Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore and the highway committee who have long recognized the need of doing away with these two unnecessary grade crossings.

The motorist leaving Footville for Evanston will in the future have a clear road instead of having to make two sharp turns and cross over the railroad tracks to the north and then back across them to the west. A stretch of 3,050 feet of this road is now being repaired and resurfaced by William Dreyer, Footville grading contractor, he having been awarded the contract 10 days ago.

700 GUARDSMEN IN GREAT FIELD MEET

It will be the first time in more than 10 years that the grounds have been used as a sham battle.

A parade through Janesville from 12:30 to 1:30 will start off the afternoon program. All organizations will be dismantled although the tank corps may pass through the city in its tanks.

Sham Battle at Night.

The big event of the day will be a sham battle to be started at 7 o'clock just at dusk. In the gathering shadows, the soldiers will be formed into enemy sides and participate in an attack and defense of position. A narrow lane will be laid out by electric light display. The plans have been made in such manner that a typical skirmish of the World war will be staged.

Every man will be provided with 100 rounds of ammunition which will mean 70,000 rounds will be used in the "battle."

Following is the program:

8:30 a. m.—Church.

9:30 to 11—Close order drill.

11:30 a. m.—Mass.

1:30 to 4:30—Drill by tanks, cavalry, and infantry.

5:30 to 7:30—Attack and defense of position.

7:30—Attack and defense of position.

8:30—Display of moving pictures of 32nd Division in World War.

The moving pictures, which are official government photos, and the property of the state, will feature Company "M" of Janesville as the best drilled unit in the 32nd division. They show the men in Camp in Texas and in action in France.

Four thousand tickets will be put on sale for the event. It is expected that hundreds of people from out of town will attend. In the event of unfavorable weather, the meet will be held on the following Saturday and Sunday.

C. H. Stordock of Deloit is in charge of arrangements. He is assisted by F. C. Henderson and E. B. Millard.

May Start Revolt Against Obregon

Travelers recently returned from Mexico predict that President Obregon will have to defend his title within sixty or ninety days. General Calles and Adolfo de la Huerta, the former provincial president, oppose Obregon on the pretense that he is not sufficiently radical. Gen. Pablo Gonzalez opposes him because he is not conservative enough. Villa is said to be getting ready to fight Obregon because he loves fighting. Estaban Cantu, former governor of Lower California, whom Obregon had quite a time subduing last year, is also very anxious to see a change in administration and has a candidate of his own.

Heligoland Shakes as Terrific Blasts Blow Big Fortress to Bits

Heligoland.—Every day is a Fourth of July celebration on the little rocky island of Heligoland. And not a safe and sane celebration at that. At sunrise the 1,000 German workmen who are dynamiting the pet fortress and naval harbor of Kaiser William II set off their blasts. The bombardment keeps up throughout the day. Charges of TNT make the water in the naval harbor spout up like geysers in the Yellowstone Park and the big gun mounds of the summit of the rocky cliff give an occasional roar like Vesuvius and belch out great clouds of black smoke and pulverized concrete.

Two Years' Job.

For two years more the work of devastation will continue night and day. It took Kaiser William II eight years to build the great fortress and naval harbor which defended the Kiel Canal and afforded Germany's navy a base close to England. At cost Germany 50,000,000 of gold marks. The cost of dismantling it, which Germany also must bear in accordance with the terms of the Versailles Treaty, will probably be about 4,000,000 of gold marks.

Heligoland proper is a stony triangle less than a mile long and scarcely a quarter of a mile wide in the broadest section. It stands nearly 200 feet above the waters of the North Sea at a point 31 miles northwest of Cuxhaven, the entrance to the Kiel Canal. The walls of destruction which afford a sad monument to Germany's once proud navy. The native residents of the island are witnesses to the devastation as most of them were born under the British flag, before Heligoland was transferred by the British to the Germans.

Church Must Fill Needs of Youth or Lose Young People, Convention Told

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Winoona, Ind.—Failure of the church to meet the demands of the young and the necessity that the church reconstruct its program were pointed out here by the Rev. A. W. Fortune, dean of the College of the Bible of Transylvania university, Lexington, Ky., at the national convention of the Disciples of Christ.

"Many church officers have had the notion that when young people are converted they will not want to do anything that other people are doing," Dr. Fortune said. "They have demanded that young people adapt themselves to the program of the church."

"The church must adapt its program to the needs of the young. It is evident that young people have failed to find in the church the things that meet their needs. That there is a supreme being, that there is a purpose in life, that there is a social life of the young or has denounced their amusement."

Young people must be taught that wholesome recreation and amusement do have a place in religion. Instead of giving the impression that the church is opposed to amusement and recreation, the church must lift them to a helpful basis. Young people are saved or lost through the use of their leisure hours."

VETERAN TRACES BULLET HE FIRED DURING CIVIL WAR

Kelso, Wash.—F. J. Knapp, a Civil war veteran, after 53 years, has traced the course of a bullet he fired at the siege of Vicksburg.

Some time ago Mr. Knapp read a news dispatch saying that W. V. Meadows, a Confederate veteran of Vicksburg, had caught up a bullet which was shot into his eye at the battle of Vicksburg. Mr. Meadows, the account said, was a member of the 37th Alabama. Mr. Knapp, who was a member of the 1st Iowa, recalled an incident at the siege, when he and three other members of the 1st Iowa Volunteers were called upon to silence a Confederate sharpshoot. The bullet was fired through a small hole in a sheet of boiler plate.

After Mr. Knapp fired, the sharpshooters' shots were discontinued and it was surmised that he had been shot in the eye.

When Mr. Knapp wrote to Mr. Meadows, the latter said that he was the man behind the boiler plate and that the bullet entered the photograph of Mr. Knapp, received of him. Meadows, the bullet and of Mr. Meadows. The two veterans have enjoyed a considerable correspondence over the incident.

Enrollment in State Normals to Show Large Gain

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—Enrollment in the nine state normal schools will be greater this year than at any time in the past, replies from the presidents of the institutions to William Kille, secretary of the board of normal trustees, indicate. All of the presidents are optimistic and look for a successful year.

The teacher training departments of most of the schools will bear the principal decrease, the replies show, with college courses in many instances raising in strength. L. C. Grosse, normal and pedagogical instructor in all departments and especially in the physical education department, "The school has never had brighter prospects in the history of its department than at this time," he says.

The chances are we shall have more men than ever before and of these a large number will be fine athletes.

Pres. A. E. Cook of the University of Wisconsin says that "the prospects for the superior school seem to indicate an increased attendance. Prospects are good that we shall have a large college course enrollment."

Referring to the president J. F. Ames says that "indications are that there will be a substantial increase in enrollment, particularly in the department of rural education. The industrial situation, together with the recent increase in teachers' salaries, are causes which do not have brought about the above results."

The "Stateville" normal school reports that it is extending its facilities for care of students, and expects a larger enrollment. Similarly, the University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh, and Stevens point report that the indications are for a larger attendance.

ARE CORSETS A HELP TO MORALS?

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago.—In connection with the controversy raging in social, educational and religious circles about the wearing of corsets, a definite stand against the prevailing fashion and has posted signs in a cloak room reading: "Positively no corsets checked."

Mrs. LeMay mentioned a widely-read Baptist publication which declared in a recent editorial:

"The most direct and speedy cure for this dress evil lies in the hands of parents who possess the rare and highly prized ability of keeping their children free from fatal fads. This ability is usually developed by beginning early, by being positive and at the same time sympathetic with the children."

As timely publicity on the value of corsets to health and the preservation of a youthful carriage, another prominent corset company is circulating a short motion picture film, produced by the industrial division of the Society for Visual Education, which is so designed that it is free from any suggestion of direct advertising, but is calculated to be entirely suitable for showing to mixed audiences in movie theaters.

A young girl is shown dressing for a dance. She hesitates at first, raises approvingly at her slender self, and then decides not to wear her corset. As she completes her toilet, her mother enters—a graceful, well-preserved woman in the early forties. During the chat that follows, the mother mentions her debt to correct posture for the protection of her health and beauty. After she leaves, daughter considers. Starting into the mirror, she visualizes her mother years hence, her neck arched, her body poised, her whole bearing giving the suggestion of ill-health. This

Janesville and Milton Junction

One hundred and twenty-three railroads, making direct connections with 12 states and transferring to part of the country, according to the survey made for the local Chamber of Commerce by St. N. Palco, Chicago industrial engineer and formerly industrial commissioner for the Southern railroads, with railroads extending here in nine directions, the report declares that this city is one of the most important railway centers of the Western Central states and offers excellent shipping lines to all parts of the country.

Fifty-five Passenger Trains
Of the 123 trains, 55 are passenger trains and 68 are freight. They are divided between the two roads as follows: A total of 65 on the Chicago and Northwestern, 33 of which are passenger and 32 being freight; 58 on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, of which 23 are passenger and 35 freight.

The C. & M. & St. P. and the C. & N. W. have lines extending in four directions. The St. Paul provides direct shipping over its own tracks in the states of Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Montana, and the Pacific coast port of Seattle. It affords direct connection to the south, southwest, southeast, and east.

Through its four lines the Northwestern provides direct routing to Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, and connects with other lines in the chief gateways of the central and northern states.

Sixty-nine Industries are located in the city along the lines of the roads. Forty of these are served by the C. & M. & St. P. and 29 by the Northwestern. To accommodate them, the roads maintain 81 miles of industrial track and siding within or near the city limits. The main line tracks extend about 10 miles, making the total trackage here approximately 11 miles.

The Northwestern is given 36 miles of industrial and siding tracks. There are 1012 yard tracks. There are 11 tracks in the South Janesville yards, each with a capacity of about a total of 1,800 freight cars. The industrial and siding tracks of the St. Paul line are given 45 miles. Seventeen of these are within the city limits and the balance are largely to sand pits.

One Thousand Men employed in the city space for the local freight houses totals 25,000 square feet. Of this, 15,000 is at Northwestern freight depot and 10,000 at the St. Paul.

Pointing out that Janesville's location of railroads was at one time owned by several different companies, which was taken over from time to time by the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the report states that the city therefore has the equivalent of several railway lines. It is declared that 1,000 men are given employment by the local railway lines and that the road is said to have 500, who work within the city limits go in and out on the trains, but make their headquarters here.

Big Shops in City.
While both roads have roundhouses in Janesville, the Northwestern in addition has large shops at South Janesville. The survey finds these shops excellently equipped for the repairing of engines, cars, and all manner of rolling stock. The St. Paul line does this work here also but on a much smaller scale.

When an industry desires side track facilities, the Northwestern will furnish them on the following conditions: The industry pays for the right of way, engineering work, grading, the ties and the laying of track, and the railroad company furnishes the rails and switches. The St. Paul requires industries to furnish all materials and pay the cost of construction.

The history of railroading is given in the survey as follows:
"Janesville's two great railroad systems are the result of many original projects beginning as far back as 1848, when at the first session of the state legislature a charter had been granted the Madison and Beloit railroad for a line connecting those cities but passing west of Janesville by Evansville and Afton."

"In January, 1849, a meeting was held in Janesville, attended by William B. Ogden of Chicago, later president of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, for the purpose of interesting Chicago capital in the construction of the Madison-Beloit-Chicago line."

First Stake Here in '48
"The name of the Madison and Beloit railroad line was changed to Rock River Valley Union railroad. Surveys were commenced Aug. 17, 1849. The first stake set in Janesville on this survey was in the fall of 1849 at a point in West Milwaukee street near where the railroad depots now stand. Under this survey the line from Madison to Chicago was to pass through Janesville."

The Rock River Valley Union railroad upon its completion became a part of the Northwestern lines. Another road, also a part of the Rock River Valley system, and known as the Rock River Valley road, was projected from Fond du Lac to Chicago by way of Janesville, connecting with the Madison-Beloit line. A. J. Smith of Janesville was president of the company. In the same year 18 miles of road south of Fond du Lac were constructed. Later this line became the Chicago, St. Paul and Fond du Lac road, and was completed to Janesville in 1857. In 1859 trains were operated from Chicago to Oshkosh.

"All of these railroads were taken over by the Chicago & Northwestern system, and with the connections at railroads, the Northwestern system, after constituting two lines into Chicago."

History of St. Paul
"The second large system entering Janesville is the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. This made up from a number of early railroad projects, with the organization of the Milwaukee & Mississippi railroad. At that time Janesville was the largest wheat growing center in the state of Wisconsin, and the village had risen to commanding commercial importance in the state. A meeting was held in the city on Sept. 17, 1850. Four projects were under consideration, the first division from Milwaukee to Waukegan, the second from Waukegan to Rock River, the third to Madison, and the fourth to Mineral Point."

"A fifth was later added to extend the road to the Mississippi river by extending the line through Plattville. Not receiving the assistance their projects demanded, the Milwaukee & Mississippi road was built in Madison, passing through Winton. When the line reached Milton, however, they extended the tracks to Janesville, making this the most remunerative of their lines. Over this railroad passed the first railway locomotive ever in Janesville, arriving Jan. 10, 1855, in charge of Engineer John C. Fox, still living in Janesville at the age of 86 years."

"The depot at that time was on the bluff just east of the present gas works. In accordance with the custom of those days the locomotive bore a name. The first one to enter Janesville was called 'Jenny'. Great ceremonies followed the advent of this train."

"In 1852 the Southern Wisconsin Railroad company, chartered for the construction of a railroad from Janesville to the Mississippi, was organized in Janesville. This line was afterwards taken over by the Milwaukee and Mississippi company, and it built the road to Janesville from Milwaukee, and in 1858 completed it to Monroe. It later extended it to Mineral Point and Plattville. It is now known as the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company, in part, and used by that road for its traffic to Madison. Out of this grew the dissension over the Evansville 'cut-off'. Eventually the Northwestern constructed a line between Janesville and Evansville, connecting with this round about road which is used at this time for direct traffic from Chicago to the northwest."

"All of these lines have been absorbed by the two systems and are operated as both connecting and separate lines, with the center of operation of all divisions in Janesville."

BIG CORN CROP TO BE FED TO STOCK

High Cost of Marketing Compels Iowa Farmers to Hold Supply.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Des Moines.—Iowa's corn crop, estimated at 405,225,000 bushels, will probably be fed to livestock on the farms of the state, according to farmers and farm experts.

The main reason for this is that the cost of marketing corn is so high that there is no profit for the farmers at the present market price, the experts declare.

Corn is the basic ration for live stock in the middle west, and under normal conditions Iowa ships only twenty-two percent of its corn to outside markets. The 1921 crop is exceeding two per cent of normal. According to the government report, indicating that if conditions were normal only 80,000,000 bushels would be shipped out of the state this year. It is pointed out that there is a wider margin between the prices of corn and of pork at this time than has recently occurred hence farmers believe that the only logical thing to do with their corn is to feed it to their swine and thus realize a real profit by shipping their pork to market as meat products. Cheap corn means very low feeding operations can be handled with more profit to farmers.

Investigators at Iowa State College at Ames have found that corn would, at best, be expensive feed. They declare that it does not burn well, gives comparatively little heat and if used as fuel would have to be replaced with more expensive feed for livestock.

These investigators state that the price of corn would have to be doubled to make corn a profitable fuel. The total live stock now on Iowa farms is estimated at 16,078,000 head. This year's corn crop will furnish about 25 bushels a head for these animals, or about thirty per cent of their feed. Hay, pasture, oats and other grains make up the balance of the feed.

Rushing in, she found the baby had fallen from the table where she placed him when she started to dress. The child died in an hour.

REGAIN HEALTH IN MINIATURE TOWN

Detroit Kiddies Thrive in Toy
Village of Child Romance.

Detroit.—In a little toy village, 25 miles from the heart of the city and 550 feet above its level, Detroit is doing something different in the fight against the white plague. It is a hard fight, but a happy one, for the children who are given care there do not find a grim atmosphere but one that keeps alive the romance of childhood.

At a cost of $45,000, the city had just completed and opened a colony that might have come to life out of a nursery book. On the tables of three quaint dormitories are painted the images of Mother Goose, Red Riding Hood, Little Red Riding Hood, and the Old Woman in the Shoe. Little Red Riding Hood also is here, of course, and on one gate, the cow is jumping over the moon.

Blow at White Plague.
During the present summer, 100 children are enjoying abundance of food, fresh air, rest and sunlight, and by the time these youngsters go back to their slum homes 100 incipient cases of tuberculosis will have been cured and a telling blow will have been struck at the plague in its most vulnerable sphere—the child.

Between May 1 and November 1, the period during which the village will be operated, children from the congested district will receive, in addition to treatment, regular schooling. They are in charge of a trained nurse, who is assisted by three other nurses and four instructors in physical education.

Has Own Light Plant.
The toy village has its own light plant and other modern facilities. It is situated on a tract of 200 acres on which the city will erect a complete tuberculosis infirmary to cost $2,500,000. This plant, when completed, will rank among the world's best, and is expected to make the best of the means of students of tuberculosis prevention. Recently, a Chinese physician visited the village.

The children's colony is the outgrowth of a plan to be conducted in the summer of 1920, when 150 children were treated. This experiment was so successful that it was decided to replace it with permanent buildings.
At the close of the operation of the colony, one year provided from the municipal treasury.

LOVELY BOUDOIR CAPS TO CATCH THE FEMINE EYE

Milady's wardrobe is never complete unless she has a variety of boudoir caps for wear in the privacy of her own room. So charming are the new caps and so varied are the models that the choice is almost as wide as that afforded in the regular millinery modes. Here are some of the captivating, loopy styles which are now on display at the Bush terminal building in New York city. That they are only a few of the many styles may be judged by the fact that one manufacturer alone is showing no less than 150 new models.

Lace, net, satin, ribbon streamers, satin flowers, ruffles, beading and other such furbelows are the usual features which combine to make one of these dainty frames for a woman's face. Here are six styles which may easily be copied by the clever needle woman.

Highways, Schools Take More Than Half of All Public Expenditures

[By Associated Press.]
Madison.—Disbursements for highways and schools in Wisconsin constitute 55 per cent of all public expenditures, which during the past year totaled $12,728,610, the state tax commission points out in its monthly bulletin.

Contrary to common understanding, the report says, the expenditures for general government, including salaries and expenses of the several executive, judicial, legislative and administrative departments, both state and local, constitute but a minor part of the total disbursements for the past year.

Total Receipts.
Total receipts for the state and all its political subdivisions were $12,728,610 in 1920 and $12,728,610 in 1919, showing an increase of 23.2 per cent for the two year period. Of these receipts, the commission says that $7,453,893 or 58.5 per cent was derived from taxes in 1920 and $6,107,811 or 47.5 per cent in 1919.

The aggregate disbursements for the year 1920 were $12,728,610 and in 1919, $10,718,954 or an increase of 20 per cent. The difference between receipts and disbursements is reflected in cash balances.

Expenditures for schools totaled 26.7 per cent of all disbursements or $3,394,144, and for highways was 21.8 per cent, for schools 52 per cent and for indebtedness 27.2 per cent. The cost of government was $7,460,276 compared to $6,107,758 in 1919.

Cities Are Expensive.
Among the different classes of municipal units, cities are shown to be by far the most expensive, while they contain only 50 per cent of the population and about 47 per cent of the taxable wealth of the state. Their aggregate expenditures, exclusive of schools, exceeds the expenditure of all towns, villages and counties combined, and equals the expenditure of

Fight on Liquor Law to Open at Madison, Sept. 21

Madison, Wis.—Trial of the case started by Milwaukee saloonkeepers to have the sections of the Severe prohibition enforcement law requiring removal or alteration of bars, declared unconstitutional, will probably be set for September 21, J. D. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, representing the state, announced today.

Judge Stevens of the circuit court has asked that further evidence be filed with him, and has been requested by attorneys for the saloon interests to explain just what sort of evidence the state is to offer, prepared to present its side of the case, and to show the basis for its claim that it has the right to stipulate conditions on which a license for sale of liquor is issued.

It is not known to what extent the saloon men will push their case, should they be unsuccessful in the circuit court. The prohibition commissioner says that the law they are attacking is being complied with generally and without complaint except in certain sections of Milwaukee.

The state commissioner is leaving enforcement of the section of the statute requiring removal or alteration of bars, largely to local officials, while his men devote their time to the less obvious violations of the law.

While evening with its flattering lights is kindest to those whose beauty is artificial, the girl whose complexion is radiant with natural beauty is prettier by day. For the all-revealing sunlight only enhances the charm of a clear, fresh skin. It emphasizes its freedom from all imperfections.

Best of all, every girl can have such a skin. The secret is simple, as you will see when you read what we tell you here.

Stimulate your skin
The tiny pores and cells which compose the surface of your skin must be kept active, or dangerous sluggishness soon results. Accumulations of oil, perspiration, combine with dirt to clog the skin. Then blackheads and blemishes result.

Powder, cold cream or rouge may help conceal this condition but they will not eliminate the trouble. A thorough cleansing every day is the remedy. It will start your skin to working again and help it do its own beautifying. Smoothness and a charming natural color will soon reward you.

After you have washed your face is the time to use cold cream. Then it is very beneficial. Powder and rouge are perfectly harmless if removed before you sleep.
